An example of group submission

Overview:

Group submission is a special setting of Assignment activity for student groups to submit team project or work documents. When a member of this group uploads an assignment, the assignment status of other members will be automatically synchronised. When a teacher mark one of the members homework, the other members will get the same grade at the same time.

What to know:

The Group Submissions feature affords the educator the ability to setup collaborative tasks for their students on their modules, and also provides valuable opportunities for the students on the course to work together.

- Step 10: Save and Finish

Step 1: Get the groups and grouping ready

If you don't have the assignment groups in the module, you need to create the groups and grouping for these students by yourself. Please refer to articles in 'Guides for staff/User management' about how to create, manage groups and grouping. If you need to create a large number of groups, please contact us by clicking on 'Ask a question'.

Hint:

Groups: student group. It is mandatory for group assignment.

Groupings: collections of groups. It is optional for group assignment. e.g. a module can contain a 'grouping of group project' and a 'grouping of tutorial'. 'grouping of group project' contains a number of groups for student group work, and 'grouping of tutorial' contains a number of groups for tutorial.

Be aware not to delete or make changes to any existing groups in your module in case you may change the previous data of student's learning such as attendance.

Grouping	Groups	Activities	Edit
Grouping for final project	Group 1, Group 2	1
Grouping for group submission	Group 1, Group 2, Group3	0
Grouping for video assignment	Group 2, Group3	0

Create grouping
